

MAKING PREDICTIONS

Sample Book Title: Lord of the Flies

Book Title: _____

Author: William Golding

Author: _____

Prediction:

The boys will create an organized, unified society in which each boy will have his own responsibilities and contributions to make.

Prediction:

Supporting quotes/actions/experiences:

*"Jack's in charge of the chair. They can be – what do you want them to be? Hunters
Jack and Ralph smiled at each other with shy liking.
The rest began to talk eagerly." (p. 23)*

Supporting quotes/actions/experiences:

Supporting facts and/or inferences:

*It seems like the boys are all getting along and choosing areas that they want to work on like hunting.

The boys all come when Ralph blows the whistle and seem to listen to him.

Ralph and Jack seem to be getting along really well, planning together and coming up with great ideas.*

Supporting facts and/or inferences:

Conclusion and analysis: Was your prediction right or wrong?

*Wrong! Ralph and Jack end up hating each other, the society splits in two, they don't make any progress on the island and they end up killing two of the boys.

The beginning of the novel leads the reader to believe that they will be able to create a functioning society, but in the end, they are still little boys at the core.*

Conclusion and analysis: Was your prediction right or wrong?
